

GREAT HOT WAVE IN GRAIN BELT

Weatherman Announces Serious Drought Will Follow From June 1 to June 13—Will Affect Cotton Also.

BY JOSEPH F. PRITCHARD.
CHICAGO, June 2.—Foster, the weather man, announces that in the great central valley where most of the grain and cotton is produced temperatures will rise from June 1 to June 13 and that a great hot wave with serious drought in the middle central valley is expected to prevail most of the time from June 4 to June 13 and particularly from June 9 to June 13 and covering from five to thirteen days. And that hot winds in the middle west are expected during that critical period.

While the above declaration was not generally known on the board of trade the few who were in possession of the information bought wheat on it. While the crop reports were generally of a favorable character, John Inglis in advice from northern Texas claimed that he had found black rust in the wheat fields from Chickasaw, Okla., south. He said that while it was not developed fully it promises serious injury, this message acted as a help to the bulls during part of the day, but when a denial by the chief inspector of the Fort Worth grain department was made public those who bought early sold their wheat. The close showed losses of 3-9@1-2c.

A well known grain man of Kansas City says that a double crop of wheat is among the possibilities for Kansas; that the crop is already made in the important part of the state; that the heavy rain is forming as far north as the central section and that harvest will begin in southern Kansas June 8 and that it will begin even in the high altitude during the last week of the month and that wheat is in magnificent condition over the entire area.

Corn was strong and showed advances of 1-2@3-4c for the day. There was more or less liquidation by longs and cash values were easier in the markets of the west. The eastern demand was fair and the offerings from the country were small. It was learned late in the day that a cargo of Argentine corn was sold c. l. f. New York for June 20 shipment. There were many reports of army worms throughout the belt and this had more or less effect on values.

Oats were fractionally better. The crop reports received were still rather unfavorable and there was some buying on them.

The provision market was fractionally higher, but the volume of trade was small.

How often does your wife have to scrub the refrigerator drain pipe of its accumulation of a slimy substance and fungus growth that comes from the melted ice? She does not if she uses Vacuum Ice. There is no fungus slim where Vacuum Ice is used. The deposit in the ice pan is the same lime and magnesia that gathers in the tea-kettle. It is inert and harmless.—Adv.

WOMEN FROM 45 to 55 TESTIFY

To the Merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during Change of Life.

Westbrook, Me.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and had pains in my back and side and was so weak I could hardly do my housework. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. I will recommend your medicine to my friends and give you permission to publish my testimonial."—Mrs. LAWRENCE MARTIN, 12 King St., Westbrook, Maine.

Manston, Wis.—"At the Change of Life I suffered with pains in my back and loins until I could not stand. I also had night-sweats so that the sheets would be wet. I tried other medicine but got no relief. After taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began to improve and I continued its use for six months. The pains left me, the night-sweats and hot flashes grew less, and in one year I was a different woman. I know I have to thank you for my continued good health ever since."—Mrs. M. J. BROWNELL, Manston, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled in such cases. If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Human Life and Health

HOUSE FLIES

BY L. O. HOWARD, Ph. D.

Entomologist and Chief Bureau of Entomology, U. S. Dept. of Agric. NOTE:—The insect we now call the "house fly" should in the future be termed the "typhoid fly" in order to call direct attention to the danger of allowing it to continue to breed unchecked.—L. O. Howard. (COMPLETE IN SEVEN ARTICLES.)

So many fly traps are on the market that it is unnecessary and undesirable to specify any particular kind. Many of them are good.

It would appear from what we know of the common house fly, its life history, etc., and from what remedial experimentation has already been carried on, that it is perfectly feasible for cities and towns to reduce the number of these annoying and dangerous insects, so greatly as to render them of comparatively slight account.

The health authorities of most of our cities have the authority to abate nuisances dangerous to health, and it is easy for the health department of any city to formulate rules concerning the construction and care of stables.

Also the keeping and disposal of manure, which if enforced, will do away with the house fly nuisance.

Such a series of rules were formulated in the spring of 1906 by the health department of Asheville, N. C., and an effort is being made during the summer to see that they are enforced.

On the third of May, 1906, the health department of the District of Columbia also issued a series of orders of this nature, on the authority of the commissioners of the district, and these orders, which may well serve as a model to other communities may be briefly condensed as follows:

All stalls in which animals are kept shall have the surface of the ground covered with a water-tight floor.

Every person occupying a building where domestic animals are kept shall maintain, in connection therewith, a pen or pit for the reception of manure, and pending the removal from the premises of the manure from the animal or animals, shall place such manure in pit or bin.

This pit or bin shall be so constructed as to eliminate rain water and shall in all other respects be water-tight, except as it may be connected with the sewer.

It shall be provided with a suitable cover, and be constructed to prevent the egress or ingress of flies.

Kitchen garbage, as well as manure or other filth, makes a good breeding place for the common housefly.

The blue bottle fly breeds in decaying meat.

If flies are permitted to enter your home they form the connecting link between home and filth.

Therefore, screen your doors and windows.

Set fly traps within your home for such as get there in spite of precautions.

Make future flies impossible by removing all breeding places.

Fly swatting is a good slogan, but inefficient as compared with the other means of prevention and destruction.

The "swat" kills only one at a time, while the trap kills thousands.

Keep your garbage cans tightly covered at all seasons.

Kill all the flies that survive the winter, as soon as they appear in the spring.

These are the mother flies, few in number but responsible for all the generations that infest the summer. One fly killed at this season is equal to killing millions in August or September. Be sure that no flies either feed or breed on your premises, for even in the best of homes there are garbage cans that neither have top nor bottom.

Get some kind of a fly trap set in your back yard, so as to catch all the flies on their way from their breeding places to your homes.

Great possibilities lie in interesting the school children in a campaign against the fly. First, because the schools reach all classes of people, and, second, because of the great funds of undirected energy of youth that may be utilized for the good of the community.

FOREST FIRES THREATEN

ESCANABA, Mich., June 2.—Driven by high winds, a forest fire ten miles wide is bringing ruin to big timber and settlers' homes on the shore of Lake Michigan near Manistique. Big fires broke out throughout this district Monday and unless rain comes in 24 hours the loss cannot be estimated. Reports that the village of Gilchrist, near Manistique, was destroyed this afternoon are unfounded. The National Pole company is the heaviest loser thus far.
